Number Of Missiles In Cuba Is Unknown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The deputy U.S. defense chief acknowledged Sunday that American officials do not know whether the 42 Soviet missiles removed from Cuba are all that Moscow sent in.

Because of this, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick said, "until we have so-called on-site inspection we could never be sure" that no nuclear weapons were left behind.

On-site inspection is one of the things that Fidel Castro, Cuba's Communist prime minister, has insisted he never will consent to.

Speaking on a taped ABC radio-television interview program—"Issues and Answers"—Gilpatrick reaffirmed the determination of the United States to see that a score or more of IL28 medium jet bombers are removed from Cuba, saying: "Our objective re-

Cuban Advisors Called By JFK

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Kennedy told his Cuban crisis negotiators Sunday to come to Washington and confer with him about the negotiations.

The U.S. delegation here announced he had set up an appointment to see the three negotiators at the White House at 11 a.m. Monday.

They are: U. S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson; Charles W. Yost, Stevenson's Security Council deputy; and John J. McCloy, chairman of the President's Cuban crisis coordinating committee.

Will Discuss Developments

A delegation spokesman said the three will discuss with Kennedy "developments to date in negotiations on the Cuban question with Acting U. N. Secretary-General U Thant and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov."

The negotiations had their most recent discussion with Kennedy a week ago Saturday, and there have been three meetings with Kuznetsov since.

The spokesman could not say what issues the White House conversations will cover.

The Soviet Union, however, had already shipped all or nearly all its missiles out of Cuba under U. S. naval inspection, thereby meeting one Washington demand.

The United States must decide soon whether to keep insisting on U.N. inspection inside Cuba to make sure all the missiles are removed.

In addition, authoritative informants said there is U.S.-Soviet disagreement as to how long the International Red Cross committee should inspect Cuban-bound Soviet ships to see that no more missiles go in.

They said the United States wants a longer period of Red Cross inspection than the Soviet Union is willing to allow. But they added that periods mentioned in negotiations fluctuated, and the United States had come down from its original demand of 30 days.

The Red Cross inspection would replace the naval quarantine the United States threw around Cuba on Oct. 24 to keep out more missiles and bombing

Area Driver Is Forced Off Highway

STROUD Township Police are investigating an accident in which a Stroudsburg man was injured Friday at 4:58 p.m. on Route 209, two miles west of Stroudsburg.

Lester Rice, assistant police chief identified the man as William P. Serfass, 361 Pine St., Stroudsburg. He was traveling east on 209 and came upon two cars traveling west, one passing the other. The cars forced Serfass off the highway.

The 1961 sedan ran 150 feet into a field and went over an eight-foot ditch, before stopping. Damage was estimated at $1,000. Serfass suffered a scratched chin and bruises.

The car was towed from the scene

Sirens, Bells Will Sound At 10:58 A.M.

FIRE SIRENS and the tolling of church bells will be heard today at 10:58 a.m. throughout Monroe County in observance of Veterans' Day.

It is believed to be a first time the county firemen and churches will join together to notify residents of the eleventh hour, the hour designated to honor the American war dead.

Employers have also been requested to have employees pause for a moment following the signal, thus giving everyone time to pay his respects to the honored dead.

UN Charges Tshombe's Warplanes Bombed North Katanga Positions

Airstrikes Occur On Saturday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Quoting "fairly reliable" reports, the United Nations charged Sunday that warplanes of secessionist Katanga Province dropped about 70 bombs in repeated air strikes Saturday against central Congolese positions in north Katanga.

A U.N. spokesman said the report of the bombs was received in a message from the U.N. command in Leopoldville, seat of Premier Cyrille Adoula's central government.

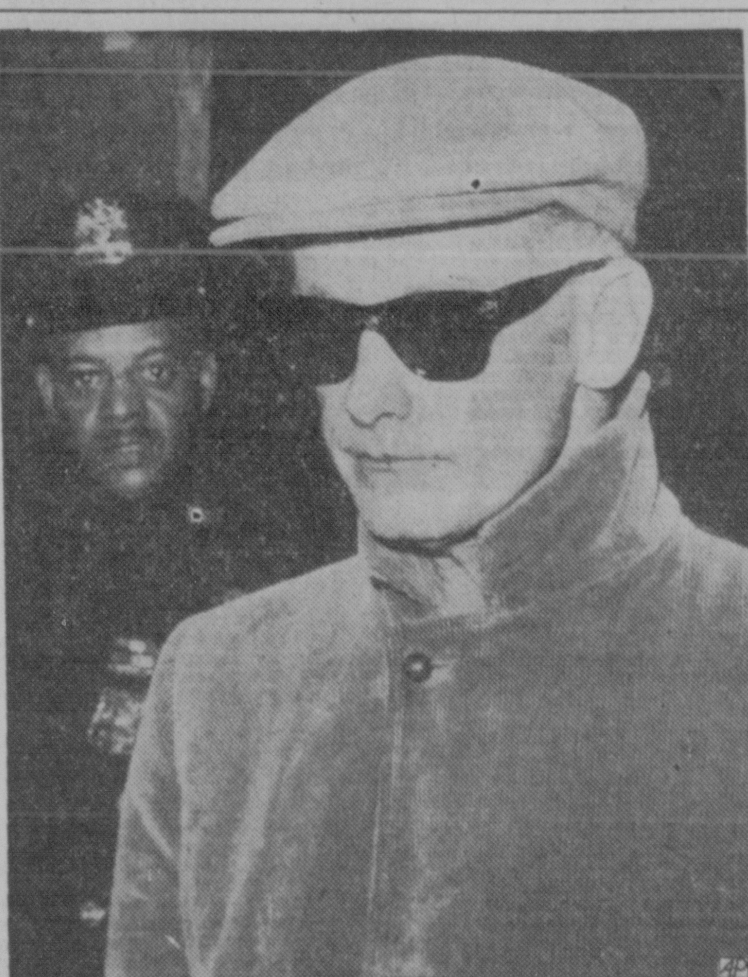

Casualties Reported

The message reported casualties but gave no numbers.

The message said the U.N. force was undertaking aerial reconnaissance to verify the reports and would announce later what action — if any — it would take against Katanga President Moïse Tshombe's secessionist regime.

Word of the air strikes came as U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant pressed Adoula and Tshombe to accept by Thursday Thant's plan to end Katanga's nearly 2½ year old secession.

The immediate impression here was that Tshombe may instead have signaled the start of new hostilities against the central government. The U.N. command and Katanga have clashed bitterly

Russia Hit By Walkout

MOSCOW (AP) — Some 47,000 workers put down tools and left work in the first six months of this year in the Kemerovo area of central Siberia because of low pay and unsatisfactory conditions, the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya reported Sunday.

The flight of labor from jobs was accompanied by mismanagement of construction of such a grave nature, the paper said, that many projects in the area are years behind schedule and only a few little jobs are getting done.

The Communist party Central Committee has been summoned to meet Nov. 19 to deal with such problems and the Supreme Soviet parliament was called Sunday to meet Dec. 10 to ratify whatever the party decides.

The paper's report was made as a special study in an area which the government has tried to build up as a new industrial center. Cement plants, chemical plants and other factories have been started, some as early as 1954, which are not yet finished.

The leaders, the paper said, try to present a false picture of the island of Cuba we could never be sure that 42 was the maximum number that the Soviets brought into Cuba."

A Defense Department spokesman explained Sunday the apparent contradiction in the statement about those counted and those seen.

Nehru Tells People To Expect Anything

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru called on the Indian people Sunday night to be ready for all eventualities in the frontier fight with Communist China, including aerial bombing of New Delhi.

Nehru told a youth rally he does not expect a bombardment of the capital—"I am only saying you must be ready for it and not to get panicky."

"Whatever happens we will not give in," he said.

Cheers swelled from his audience, estimated to total 100,000.

Nehru said there will be conscription and universal military training if the need arises. Defense ordinance establishments are working around the clock, he said, and have boosted production three or four times in the past three weeks.

He again expressed thanks to the United States and Great Britain for arms shipments.

Repeating information he gave a parliamentary committee Saturday, he said the Soviet Union has agreed to stand by its original commitments to ship planes to India and also to help India produce them internally.

A flurry of outside efforts to ease tension between India and Communist China developed as a lull persisted on the Himalayan front.

Nehru asked the nation not to be discouraged by recent re-

Scranton Names Attorney General

JUPITER ISLAND, Fla. (AP)—Pennsylvania Gov.-Elect William W. Scranton Sunday named Walter E. Alessandrini of Philadelphia as attorney general in his cabinet.

Alessandrini immediately announced reorganization of the state's court system would be the first item on his agenda.

Additional judges are needed in Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia lawyer told a news conference. He is here with the Republican governor-elect to relax after the election campaign.

"The state's courts are running with the same manpower today as they were 25 years ago," Alessandrini said.

"Of first importance in achieving their reorganization is naming of an administrator. This applies especially to Philadelphia and to Allegheny County (Pittsburgh), because the need is the greatest there."

verses. He said withdrawal, in the face of a sudden Chinese attack, to more favorable positions had been part of the military strategy decided a long time ago. The Indians pulled back in both eastern and western sectors in the face of the offensive launched by from 40,000 to 50,000 Chinese soldiers Oct. 20.

While thanking the Western powers for military aid, Nehru said it does not mean the abandonment of India's nonalignment.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "the head of one Western country now giving us arms has written me saying he had not wanted India to change its traditional policy of nonalignment."

Did Not Name Country

Nehru did not name the country or its head, but the audience figured he meant President Kennedy. One could hear the name of Kennedy passed from one person to another.

King Mahendra of Nepal, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and King Mohammed Zahir Shah of Afghanistan moved independently to try to still the guns in the old frontier dispute.

Monarch of a buffer state between India and Red-ruled Tibet, Mahendra expressed hope in an interview with Nepal's national news agency at Katmandu that Peiping and New Delhi will solve their trouble as soon as possible through mutual negotiations.

Move Radar Sets From Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Army rocket launchers and radar sets have been withdrawn from a Key West beach and set up in a less conspicuous location.

The beach was cleared swiftly and suddenly Saturday with much of the work carried out after dark. Daylight revealed the weapons' new position. They now are in a spot well back from public roads in an area where they blend into their surroundings and probably will be unnoticed by the casual passerby.

The redeployment leaves this city 90 miles from Havana with few really striking signs of the arms buildup which began during the Cuban crisis.

A major waterfront hotel still is occupied by the military and the city baseball park still serves as an Army motor pool. Big olive drab trucks still rumble through the streets and jets flash overhead.

However, the arms-bristling beach had been the real attention-getter. It was impossible for tourists to overlook the encampment with its array of rockets, its swiftly rotating radar sets, its sandbagged machine-gun emplacements and its swarm of fatigue-clad troops and armed sentries.

There was no official explanation for the withdrawal from the beach. It may have been decided it was too public. Also, a storm last week left tide-washed seaweed tanglements and made it necessary to haul rocket launchers out of puddles. This may have led to a decision to seek a more sheltered location.

Meany, Reuther Feuding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's two top leaders, George Meany and Walter P. Reuther, are headed for a clash Monday that could result in an AFL-CIO split, although a compromise is more likely.

Sources close to both principals said each is determined to carry his long-smouldering differences to a showdown at a meeting of the 29-man AFL-CIO Executive Council—where Meany apparently has close to a 2-to-1 voting margin.

Might Carry Out Threat

Insiders are inclined to believe that Reuther, in frustration, might go ahead with a threat to take his big United Auto Workers Union and perhaps some other former CIO organizations out of the AFL-CIO. But it is a better bet the feud will be smoothed over as has happened repeatedly in the past.

The ostensible issue, although the Meany-Reuther personality differences are much more ramified, is over filling a vacant seat on the Executive Council, one of the 10 places accorded the former CIO when it merged with the AFL in 1955.

Meany is president of the AFL-CIO while Reuther is one of many vice presidents, as well as being president of the UAW. Meany headed the old AFL with Reuther the top man in the former CIO.

Reuther is backing for the vacant post Ralph Helstein, president of the United Packinghouse Workers, a man Meany has ruled unacceptable because of alleged onetime left-wing tendencies in Helstein's union.

Meany is said to acknowledge the post should be filled by someone from the former CIO union and is reported to favor Eugene E. Frazier, Negro president of the United Transport Service Employees, the rail station "red caps." The council already has one Negro.

Reuther is said to insist the CIO should be free to name anyone it wants without veto by Meany or council members representing former AFL unions.

Meany is represented as feeling the CIO can suggest but the recommendations are subject to approval by the council majority, dominated by Meany.

Pearl Display Is Stolen

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A pearl collection valued at a million dollars wholesale was stolen Saturday night from the hotel room of Hikoji Sakata, 38, member of a prominent Japanese family, Sakata told police.

Sakata has been displaying the pearls in various cities. They were shown last month at the Texas State Fair in Dallas and were brought to Fort Worth for display in three department stores.

Sakata said the pearls, weighing 70 pounds and stored in a suitcase, were taken while he was out visiting friends.

Sakata, the third son in his family, heads an exporting firm in his family's five-prong, multi-million dollar operation, each headed by a brother.

Sakata said nine of the pearls were natural and thousands of others in the collection were cultured.

Sakata described one of the natural pearls as the largest in the world. He said it is 13½ millimeters in diameter and perfectly round. He said he refused $10,000 for it.

A large number of the pearls were set in brooches, bracelets, earrings, the clasps and other jewelry. There also were 759 strands containing 57,000 pearls.

Sakata displayed the pearls at one of the Fort Worth stores until 9 o'clock Saturday night, then he and two assistants took the collection to his ninth floor room.

Jet Crashes On Runway, Kills Three

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A swept-wing RB47 jet, rising gracefully Sunday from a runway at MacDill Air Force Base, suddenly dipped its right wing and crashed, killing the three crewmen in a flaming explosion.

Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kan., identified the crewmen as members of the 343rd Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron of the 55th Strategic Wing, based there. They were Capt. William Wyatt, 32, of Lyons, Kan., aircraft commander; Capt. William C. Maxwell, 27, of Hialeah, Fla.; pilot; Lt. Ronald M. Rial, 29, of Tulsa, Okla., navigator.

Wyatt, a veteran of 15 years in the Air Force, held the Distinguished Flying Cross. He is survived by a wife and two daughters.

Maxwell, a veteran of seven years in the Air Force, held the Air Medal. He is survived by his wife.

Rial, in the Air Force eight years, also held the Air Medal. He is survived by a wife and three sons.

Reservists Given Time For Benefits

RESERVISTS who were called to active duty during the Berlin crisis have been granted additional time to complete their education and rehabilitation training under a bill recently signed into law by President Kennedy.

The extension amounts to equal time for services rendered, according to the Veterans Administration.

Reservists who were called to active duty under Executive Order before August 1, 1962, and those whose enlistments were extended, benefit under this liberalization of the original Korean GI Bill.

Similar extensions of deadlines for training under the War Orphan Educational Assistant Act are also granted to orphans whose programs of education are interrupted due to certain conditions beyond their control.

This is designed to aid orphans who (a) because of personal illness or sickness in the immediate family suffer financial hardship or (b) who are working and are obliged to temporarily suspend their studies because certain demands of their job force them to drop out of training.

More information about these GI Bill amendments can be obtained at any VA office.

Unemployment Compensation Increases

BOTH continued and initial claims for unemployment compensation benefits filed in Pennsylvania increased during the week ended November 2, according to A. Allen Suloway, Secretary of Labor and Industry.

Secretary Suloway noted that the 160,775 continued claims filed represent an increase of 468 from one week ago but a decrease of 7,879 from the number filed in the same week one year ago. He said that the construction, apparel, bituminous mining, stone-clay-glass and primary metals industries accounted for the bulk of the increase.

Initial claims increased to 29,992 or 2,521 more than the number filed in the previous week. Job completions in construction plus temporary and indefinite layoffs in bituminous mining and stone-clay-glass were primarily responsible for this week's increase in initial claims.

During the week 144,269 UC checks amounting to $4,481,299 were issued to regular UC claimants.

Pilots Fined For Inattention

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency fined 13 Eastern Air Lines pilots Thursday for "inattention to flight duty" and directed the airline to submit a plan within 30 days to prevent future incidents.

The fines grew out of a congressional investigation of reported hijinks in cockpits—such as letting stewardesses fly the planes. Eastern grounded three flight captains Tuesday for lax discipline in the cockpits.

The fines for the nine flight captains and four co-pilots ranged from $300 to $600. Names of the pilots were not released.

The disciplinary action was announced in letters from the Atlanta regional administrator to the pilots and Eastern Air Lines. They were released here.

A former flight engineer on the airline testified at the congressional inquiry that he took photographs involving 14 pilots on 18 Eastern flights from May 1959, to July 1961. There were pictures of pilots reading, sleeping, and holding stewardesses on their laps.

TV Inaugural

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Television will be introduced in Jamaica next August, the development-welfare minister, Edward Seaga, reports.

when they visited the backwoods cabin of former Monroe County resident, Hayden Price.

Led by veterans of 25-year hunting sorties, Charles Gordon, East Stroudsburg oil man, and Elmer Rinehart, car and truck executive of Stroudsburg, the group spent a week in Maine's so-called North Woods — Cherryville — to stalk their prey.

The largest bag by the "Half Dozen" was a 250-pound, 10-pointer. Other trophies ranged from 200 pounds down to 150.

Gordon, in remarking about the journey, said, "the deer appear much larger in Maine than in the local regions."

"Continual feeding by state game commission of Maine builds up the animal," he pointed out.

The party which returned this past Friday included Fred Pipher, Clarence (Buck) Pipher, Paul Turner, Luther VanWhy, Gordon and Rinehart.

Withholding Tax Forms Due Nov. 15

EMPLOYERS liable for income tax withheld and social security taxes in excess of $100 for the month of October must deposit such taxes with a depository. District Director Ellis R. Rogers of the Internal Revenue Service in Scranton, reported today.

Stressing the importance of compliance with deposit deadline of November 15, 1962, Mr. Rogers added that a Form 450 should be used for this purpose.

Deposits may be made in local authorized banks, or Federal Reserve Banks, Mr. Rogers said.

Employers who do not have a copy of Circular E, "Employers Tax Guide" may obtain it from any local IRS office. This publication contains a full discussion of employment taxes together with tables and percentage methods for computing such taxes.

Social Security Benefits Important To Young People

"WHY worry about social security? I'm not going to get it until 1980 anyway!"

That's the attitude some young people have when they hear talk about social security or see the deductions on their paychecks. Actually, the majority of these young people will eventually become 65 and older. Eventually, they will find that social security deductions made now will pay off in social security benefits when they really need them.

But, social security is much more than old-age benefits. It is valuable protection during your working years as well as after them. It provides payments of as much as $254 a month to the families of workers who have died. It also provides payments to the worker and to members of his family should he become totally disabled, no matter at what age.

Although the people in the social security office do the best they can to see that these payments are properly made, they cannot help you unless they know your problem. So it's important that you, the worker, and member of your family know something of the law; at least enough to know that the only way you or your family can get benefits is by applying for them. They don't start automatically. How do you go about it? Get in touch with your local social security office. If there is no office in your area, a social security representative probably makes regular visits to a place nearby. Your local post office can tell you where this contact station is. Or call the office nearest you.

There are three occasions when you or your family should get in touch with your social security offices: when you are planning to retire, even a few months ahead of time; should you become disabled; and in the event of your death.

Of course, you can call on your social security office for information at any time. Keep up to date on the changes in the social security law. Be sure that you know the benefits you are entitled to. And be sure you don't run the risk of losing them by not applying for them.

Education Week Theme Stresses Changing Times

(This first in a series dealing with National Education Week was written by Mrs. Melva Reid, an instructor in the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School. Other articles by local teachers will appear during the week.—Editor.)

By MELVA REID

A MODERN CURRICULUM MEETS THE CHALLENGE OF CHANGE
EDUCATION has been constantly changing to meet the specific needs of the times. In colonial days education was necessary to read the Bible. Later learning in writing and arithmetic was necessary for keeping accounts, finding employment and communicating effectively.

As American needs changed, schools and colleges changed their curriculums. World War I, the depression, World War II, the atomic and space ages have caused reconsideration of what was once considered fundamental education. Young people today face a tremendous challenge, and schools must offer a wide range of educational, vocational, and social opportunities to help them live happily and productively in our modern world.

In any period of rapid social change, society makes new demands on the individual and the school. Adjustments must be made between society's needs and those of the individual. There are many pressures for "more of this and less of that." At one extreme are those who argue that science and mathematics should have primary emphasis in the curriculum. They argue that a thorough knowledge of these is required for competency in today's world.

Love Of Learning

At the other extreme are those who believe that the basic emphasis should be on love of learning. They want to expose the child to all the experiences, ideas and noble sentiments accumulated by mankind through the ages. They minimize attention to the immediate realities of our present world.

The solution lies somewhere between these two extremes. Students need science, but they also need general culture. If the philosophy is that education is for all children of all people, the individual must have freedom to choose his place in American society. Our offerings must be adequate to meet the needs of society, and at the same time they must satisfy the individual's personal needs in relation to the demands of society.

Thus it is the duty of the school to provide broad, flexible opportunities for the student, with the help of his educational counselors, will select those which provide his highest personal development. The world today calls for a tremendous variety of talents, for the volume of the world's knowledge is doubling every ten years. Ninety percent of all the scientists who have ever lived are alive today. More mathematics has been created since the beginning of the twentieth century than in all the rest of history combined. Ninety percent of all the drugs prescribed by physicians were not even known ten years ago. In 1975, three-fourths of the people in industry will be producing products that have not yet been invented or discovered. By 2000, today's high school students will have been retrained at least once for new jobs because their old ones have become obsolete.

To this end ways must be developed to teach better than which each person needs to know. Those who think schools should place emphasis on the

Car Burned In Fire On Thruway

A CAR was destroyed by fire Saturday at 4 a.m. on the Stroudsburg Thruway but the driver was uninjured.

Stroudsburg Police said that Neil Nafus, 30, Jermyn, was traveling north on Route 80, opposite the Dreher Ave. exit when the power steering failed. The car crossed the highway divider and spun in the rain-slick southbound lane. The car burst into flames as it struck the guardrails.

Stroudsburg Volunteer Firemen worked 45 minutes in a heavy rainstorm to put the fire out.

Man Injured As Car Overtakes

AN OLD FORGE man was injured in a one car accident Sunday at 1:10 a.m., 21 miles west of Milford on Route 6 when his car ran off the side of the highway and overturned.

State Police at Milford identified the man as Anthony Bergamino, 25, of 920 Sibley Ave., Old Forge. They said he lost control when the car ran off the highway, causing the car to overturn.

Bergamino was admitted to Wayne County Memorial Hospital, Honesdale, with multiple contusions and a mild concussion. To this end ways must be developed to teach better than which each person needs to know. Those who think schools should place emphasis on the reported that the driver responsible for the chain reaction accident, Maksym Bilymsky, 42, Philadelphia, will be charged with reckless driving.

Police said Bilymsky tried to pass a state-owned car operated by John C. Hansell, 35, of Bath, Liquor Control Board, Allentown, as Hansell was passing a Lehighton Transit Co., bus which was discharging passengers.

Bilymsky's car hit Hansell's, forcing it across the highway head-on into a car operated by Morris R. Steigerwalt, 38, Lehighton. Bilymsky then struck the rear of the bus which was operated by William A. Andreas, 54, Lehighton RD 3.

Total damages to the four vehicles was estimated at $2,025.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are at least 18 scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss. If you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzzy) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information such as: how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever have had any of the following conditions: Does your forehead becomes oily or greasy? Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? Does your scalp have pimples or other irritations? Does your scalp itch and how often? Include any other information you feel might be helpful.

All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., Box 66001, Dept. P-15, Houston 6, Texas. Adv.

A Solemn Moment

Fire sirens and the tolling of church bells will be heard throughout Monroe County at 10:58 a.m. today, marking the observance of Veterans Day.

Churches and fire departments have been asked to cooperate in bringing an awareness of the day to the general public and indications are that most will do so.

In addition, the United Veterans of Monroe County have requested businesses and industries to halt their activities for two minutes when the sound of the sirens and church bells fades.

We applaud this program. It is right that the public should be made aware of this day and its significance.

Far too often in the past, when it was known as Armistice Day and later after the name was changed to Veterans Day, the solemnity of the occasion was lost on the general public.

Instead, a few veterans organizations and perhaps a band or two marched before an indifferent crowd of a few hundred or few thousand people — often through streets where not a single American flag was displayed.

True, many families recognize the day as one on which to honor not only members of their families who served in the armed forces, but all of their ancestors who have died.

But, for the most part, public apathy has been such as to be a national disgrace. Perhaps the sounding of sirens and church bells will remedy this. We hope so.

For, on this day throughout the world, citizens of countries who were liberated by American soldiers will venture forth with their arms filled with flowers to decorate their graves. For many, it is a year-round task, not just on Veterans Day.

It is a sad commentary on America's attitude toward its war dead, and to those veterans who are still living, that they receive more attention in foreign lands where they are buried than they do at home.

There is a reason, of course. These are the people who lived under the heel of a dictator. They honor and love the men who liberated them.

God forbid that this nation ever succumbs to the type of dictatorship personified by the Hitlers, Mussolinis and Khrushchevs. But, if it ever did, its liberators would undoubtedly be venerated here as our men are in France, Belgium, the Philippines and other areas around the globe.

This is as it should be. But why should the honored dead whose bodies have been returned home not also receive homage in their native land? Were it not for them, and those like them from the other Allied nations, this country today would be run by Adolf Hitler, assuming he had lived this long.

Let's display our country's flag on this day of honor to our dead. Let's join in memorial services. Let us humbly thank God that this nation has always had men such as these in time of crisis—men willing to lay down their lives that others might live.

As Michael Joseph Barry put it: "But whether on the scaffold high Or in the battle's van, The fittest place where man can die Is where he dies for man!"

Revolution Of Falling Hopes

Two shining white truths and one gray one:

The world will not be saved through defeating Castro or Khrushchev.

It is the evil in the human heart which will have to be defeated.

The peril of Communism is "coupled with the revolution of rising expectations that is abroad among all the underprivileged of the world, and our own decline because so many of us are ignorant of God and so many ignore Him."

These are the sincere statements of a distinguished clergyman, who spoke here to a convention of an active Christian organization. The grayness is perceptible in one key word "coupled."

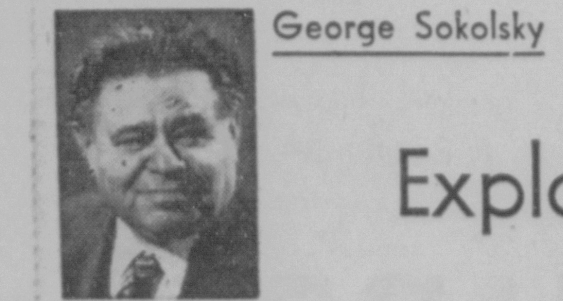

How did Communism—which is Godless, which demonstrably is a throwback to the harsh, autocratic life that the common man endured for so many centuries, come to be "coupled" with rising expectations?

It did so through propaganda, through black lies and amoral salesmanship. The success of the propaganda is proven not only when African child-nations put trust in Moscow, but even more when a coupling of mankind's hopes and the bloody irreligion of Marxism are accepted as a commonplace fact of life.

The failures of the western world — of Christendom, if one prefers — are clearly obvious. They reach the point of despair when Christians concede that the "revolution of rising expectations" marches to the beat of the "International."

Exploded Notions

The pollsters have made quite a lot to do about their prophetic omniscience during the recent election. In broad terms, many of them came out wrong. The assumption that because 1962 was an off year, the party in power must lose seats in the House, turned out to be wrong. The jokes about the Kennedys did not matter at all.

The enormous vote in the primaries and the election of Ted Kennedy in Massachusetts was not a happenstance. Kennedys have an appeal to plain, ordinary folk.

In New York, Governor Rockefeller ran nearly 500,000 votes behind Senator Javits who was the bellweather of the Republican ticket; Arthur Levitt, only Democrat elected on the state ticket, running for Comptroller, got a larger vote than Governor Rockefeller. Many of those who voted for Levitt had to split their ticket. It had to be a pre-meditated act.

This proved that had the Democrats nominated a more popular person than Robert Morgenthau, who was unknown to most voters, he could have been elected. He was selected on the basis of a poll, arranged by Lou Harris, with whom Morgenthau had been associated in the poll business.

In one poll, which is in my possession but which was addressed to Mayor Wagner, Harris used a sample of 802 persons out of a voting population of 5,712,482 to prove that James Farley could not be elected. He declared the unknown and unsung Morgenthau as the strongest vote-getter.

The Pennsylvania Story

Turning Point: TV Surprise

Harrisburg — In retrospect, if one were to single out the major turning point of the gubernatorial campaign in which Republican William Warren Scranton so appallingly scuttled the long-nurtured dream of Democrat Richardson Dilworth, it would be:

The night of October 20 - in Mr. Scranton's home town.

That was the memorable night when the bellicose Mr. Dilworth planned to debate on statewide television an "empty chair" after having been informed that Mr. Scranton would not appear because of a previous engagement.

Anyone aware of Mr. Dilworth's volatile disposition almost could envision how the Democratic candidate planned to have himself a field day at Mr. Scranton's expense, especially in the Governor-elect's home bailiwick.

This represented terrific theater for one of Mr. Dilworth's sky-rocket rushes of emotion.

However, one minute before the television cameras started to grind away with Mr. Dilworth as the shining hero of the piece, William Warren Scranton walked onto the sound stage carrying with him a whitewash bucket and brush!

Mr. Dilworth's eyes popped and his neck muscles bulged as he stared incredulously at Bill Scranton in the flesh. This, he must have thought, was some monstrous joke for hadn't Mr. Scranton himself told him just the day before that he couldn't make it? Dick Dilworth blinked and shook his head and before he could think of anything appropriate to say, the show was on the air.

The debate itself was not noteworthy except it was apparent to video viewers that Mr. Dilworth was fighting hard to keep from exploding all over the place, each time his opponent blandly thrust a rapier-like point home.

Mr. Scranton climaxed his sallies by branding Dick Dilworth as one whose candidacy, in effect, was an affront to political decency and honor. On that piercing indictment, the debate came to a close and Mr. Scranton moved across the hall to a private office where he planned to hold a press conference.

Infuriated Dick Dilworth barged in on the Scranton conference. Press coverage of that unbelievable, unprecedented clash practically reduced the Dilworth campaign to a shambles.

From that point on, the political image of Bill Scranton seemingly took on new stature and grandeur. Old line Democrats shook their heads sadly. It was easy from there on for independent voters to make their choice and the Dilworth star faded rapidly.

And who had a big hand in this now unquestioned Scranton coup d'etat? Who really was responsible for helping Mr. Scranton appear dramatically in the debate that went a long way towards shattering Richardson Dilworth's campaign?

In one of those now-it-can-be-told, behind the scenes actions, it was none other than George N. Pennington, the strategist of yesterday who masterminded long ago successful Republican gubernatorial campaigns — plus the almost unprecedented Democratic win of Governor Leader in 1964! Unknown publicly until this moment, it was the old sage of Renfrew (Butler County) who served as an off-stage adviser to W. W. Scranton.

It was on October 7 at Mr. Scranton's palatial estate "Marworth" at Dalton, near Scranton, that the Governor-elect, had a huddle with Mr. Pennington and asked him how he should handle the pending debate with Mr. Dilworth. Mr. Pennington counseled him to do precisely what he did and show up at the last minute, predicting it would totally unnerve Mr. Dilworth and ruin him for the balance of the campaign. The plan was so well executed that not even Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom knew that Bill Scranton actually would appear.

But he DID appear and history was made!

Veteran's Guide

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q — May a widow who has previously been denied a claim for pension because her husband did not have a service-connected condition when he died, apply again under a new law?

A — Yes. The new pension law does not require that the veteran have a service-connected condition, but is based chiefly on the financial need of the applicant or her minor children.

Q — How does a new law affect educational benefits for reserves called up for active service during the Berlin crisis?

A — A reservist whose training or education under the Korean GI Bill was interrupted by the call up for active service will have his deadline for completing his education or training extended by a period of time equal to the length of his "call-up" period of service.

Q — Are young people engaged in the VA's War Orphan Educational program benefited by provisions of a new law?

A — Yes. If they are forced to suspend their schooling or training because of financial reasons beyond their control, such as illness in their immediate family, or because the job at which they work requires their presence on the job at a certain season, their deadline date will be extended by the length of time they are thus kept out of training.

Bennett Cerf Try and Stop Me

Much has been written about the facility with which the late Edgar Wallace turned out his innumerable mystery yarns, with sometimes as many as seven in the works at the same time.

There was the time, for instance, when one of the big London papers was running a Wallace serial in its pages with the author turning out installments barely eight days in a vance. Suddenly, however, the copy stopped coming in. Wallace had flown off to the Riviera for a vacation.

The feature editor panicked, particularly since the latest installment on hand left off with the hero bound hand and foot at the bottom of a fifty-foot hole in the middle of the Sahara desert. "Only Wallace is ingenious to get him out of a pickle like that," fretted the editor. "Where is the blighter anyhow?"

At the last moment, the editor's worries proved groundless. The imperturbable Wallace strode into the office, and with the relieved editor peering over his shoulder, typed the first line of the next installment.

It began, "As our hero emerged from the pit..."

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, November 12 — Representative Wright Patman's investigation of the nation's largest foundations is producing some astonishing details of huge profits made by these tax-exempt organizations during last spring's stock market plunge.

While individual investors saw more than $10 billion erased from the values of the shares they owned, the preliminary survey by Patman's House Small Business Committee shows that many of the leading foundations used the market decline for huge financial gains.

The staff study, scheduled to be turned over to the Securities & Exchange Commission when completed, reveals that nine of the first 22 foundations examined by the staff made profits ranging from $1 million to $47 million on their massive sales of stocks from December 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962 — the period of the market's slide.

Only one of these — the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York City — reported a loss ($317,639) in its bear market selling of 9,231,337 in stock, including 38,000 shares of Aluminum Ltd.

The amazing $47 million gain was made by the Rockefeller Foundation, New York City, in its unprecedented sales of $32,250,000 in stock, including a million shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common stock. This stock had been held by the foundation since 1919.

According to the Patman survey, similar startling stock market transactions by the 500 leading foundations are believed to have netted these tax-exempt organizations profits running to more than $100 million.

Probe On Profits

Foremost among these financial windfalls and the foundations that received them are:

(First listed is foundations, followed by stock sales, and last, profit figures).

- Carnegie Corp. Foundation, New York, N. Y. — $14,086,683
- $6,526,008; Helene Fuld Health Foundation, Trenton, N. J. — $9,397,141 — $3,232,137; Leonard C. Hanna Jr. Fund, Cleveland, O. — $3,242,762 — $2,960,674
- Vincent Astor Foundation, New York, N. Y. — $12,234,320 — $1,927,043; Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. — $4,680,451
- $1,641,604; Pittsburgh Plate & Glass Foundation, Pittsburgh, Pa. — $2,831,269 — $1,590,568
- Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation, New York, N. Y. — $5,378,271 — $1,247,638; John & Mary R. Markle Foundation, New York, N. Y. — $2,047,190 — $1,025,735; A. W. Mellon Education Trust, Pittsburgh, Pa. — $2,025,785 — $895,133; Avalon Foundation, New York, N. Y. — $2,350,356 — $659,020; Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation, Tacoma, Wash. — $763,975 — $455,214; Winterthur Corp., Wilmington, Del. — $794,154 — $416,246; Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation, Pittsburgh — $2,594,825 — $401,988; Danforth Foundation, St. Louis, Mo. — $978,666 — $378,869; Elizabeth Severance Prentiss Foundation, Cleveland — $4,816,817 — $335,249; W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Mich. — $1,196,797 — $292,762; B. F. Goodrich Fund, Inc., Akron, O. — $408,498 — $265,906.

In his report Representative Patman singles out the Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation of New York as an example of a tax-exempt organization's "speculation in securities — with stocks and bonds being bought and sold during the same year and sometimes within a matter of a few days."

He reported that the Hyde Foundation had sold at least $42 million in securities during the period 1953 through 1960, netting profits of over $5.7 million. The foundation's securities sales totaled $16,369,481 during 1961 with a profit of $1,438,954, none of which is taxable.

It is Patman's contention that these tax-exempt foundations "should not be permitted to use public funds for speculation in the stock market."

New Weapon — While Patman's committee has been able to uncover these stock market dealings through the foundations' own records, he now has a powerful new weapon to use in his investigation.

President Kennedy has given him authority to examine foundation tax returns and those of their officials. This sweeping power usually is given only to the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

Representative Patman, who plans to hold public hearings in January, is quietly broadening his probe to include links between U. S. and European foundations.

Specifically, he is interested in learning the details of a recent meeting of top U. S.-European foundation officials at which working groups were set up to discuss "joint programs" and promote closer association between U. S. foundations and various international cultural associations, including some behind the Iron Curtain.

Another task force was set up to deal with the question of tax incentives in the U. S. and a number of European countries. At present, the nation's 48,000 foundations pay no federal taxes.

Financial Headlines — Several of the large barge banks in Switzerland are sending reassuring letters to clients and potential clients in the U. S. about the "sanctity" of their numbered or "coded" accounts. The Swiss parliament recently authorized the government to "confiscate" the coded deposits belonging to Jewish victims of Nazism so that the funds could be made available to their legal heirs. This, say the banks, does not mean that the numbered bank accounts are in danger of being eliminated or their owners' identity made public in the future... A former official of one Swiss bank has testified before the Senate Internal Security Committee that a number of that country's 4,000 banks have been taken over by Soviet agents. He claims the Russians are "blackmailing" U. S. citizens who have banked illegal funds in those institutions.

Conservative --But Right!

DEAR ABBY: Your guess that 75 percent of the married women made breakfasts for their husbands was conservative. I live in a 16-unit apartment building and I took a poll. Only two men make their own and they are both bachelors. By the way, I have been married over 52 years and I missed only 9 times. (Three days for each "baby.")

BLESSED

DEAR ABBY: What's so wonderful about getting up to make a husband's breakfast? I start mine at 2:30 a.m. and I prepare home-made biscuits, gravy and oatmeal for my darling. He's a milkman and must be on his way by 3:15. I can go back to bed until 6:30 because my children don't leave for school until 7:15 and they get the same kind of breakfast. And at 7:30 a.m. my day's work begins!

MILKMAN'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: When my husband decides to take his nose out of the newspaper at breakfast, and when I don't have to serve a nice dinner on a card table in front of the idiot box (scuse me, the TV set) every evening — then, and only then, will I get up and fix breakfast for my husband. Why should I bother when he doesn't know what he's eating or who fixed it for him?

"NOT APPRECIATED"

DEAR ABBY: Count my wife in as one of the women who always gets up to make breakfast for her husband. She wouldn't think of sleeping. That's the time she hits me for some money.

WIFE AND MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Every morning at 6:15 I got up and prepared a king-sized breakfast for a king of a man. I never missed a morning from February 15th, 1916, until June 3rd, 1960. Now he is gone, and I can't break the habit of getting up at that hour. Sometimes I absent-mindedly set the table for two. Tell that lazy wife who refuses to give her husband breakfast to send him to my house. I'll cheerfully feed him and be glad for the company.

Capital Gains Taxes

By William A. Doyle
Q. Recently, a house in which I owned a part interest was sold. I received approximately $5,000 as my share. I have been advised that if I do not reinvest this money in real estate within one year, it will be subject to Federal income tax. I own my own home and do not intend to buy any other house or land.

Can I avoid the income tax bite by putting the $5,000 into stock, such as stock of a real estate company?

A. No. And assuming that you have some tax obligation, you can't "avoid" it by putting the money into real estate. You might try to "evade" it. But that's illegal and you might end up in jail. You have received some very bad information. It is only when you sell your own home at a profit and use all the money to buy another "personal residence" that you don't have to report the profit from the first home as capital gains on your Federal income tax return.

In that case, you would postpone the tax on that profit until some future date—when you sell your principal residence and do not put the proceeds in a home.

But those special rules do not apply in your case. Your share in that house that was sold was a "capital asset." If the price you paid (or whatever other "tax-cost basis" was established) for your share was less than $5,000, you had a profit on the sale. You are required to report that profit as a capital gain when you file your Federal tax return.

Of course, if you had a loss on the sale, you can report that as a capital loss on your tax return.

Q. I am a widow, 50, with no children. I have $3,000 in a savings account, drawing four percent interest. My home, worth about $10,000 is all paid for. My job just about covers my living expenses. I invested $1,000 in shares of Investors Stock Fund in 1958 and $2,000 in shares of Investors Variable Payment Fund in 1961.

I knew that the value of these shares fell quite a bit this year. But I was not worried. I knew that the stock market took a big drop and that it was natural for the value of all mutual fund shares to decline.

But now I am concerned and am considering redeeming my shares in those two funds for cash. A friend tells me that her United Funds did not fall. Is she telling the truth?

A. Of course not. Your friend seems to be one of those people who likes to brag, unnecessarily. It's the old story of the horse-player who claims he had a winner in every race.

As I write this, I have before me a tabulation put together by Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. showing the price changes in shares of a long list of mutual funds in the 12 months ended Sept. 30.

It shows that the price of Investors Stock Fund was down 18 percent and the price of Investors Variable Payment Fund was down 22 percent. As you probably know, there are two other funds managed by the same organization—Investors Services—Investors Mutual, which was down 10 percent, and Investors Selective Fund which was up one percent.

Now, let's look at what that tabulation shows for the four United Funds. United Accumulative was down 15 percent. United Continental was down 18 percent. United Income was down 13 percent. United Science was down 23 percent.

So, stop worrying and tell your friend to stop bragging.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Blue Cross Plans Old Age Group

BLUE Cross President George T. Bell announced, today, approval by the State Insurance Commissioner of two new Blue Cross benefit programs for persons age 65 and older. These new Senior Citizen programs will be offered aged residents of the area during a special enrollment campaign starting November 12 and running through November 30. Coverage will become effective January 1, 1963, for persons joining during this campaign. All five Blue Cross Plans in the state will offer this coverage at this time.

Part of a national movement by the country's 77 Blue Cross Plans to offer broader benefits for the aged, the new programs — Extended Senior Citizen and Regular Senior Citizen — include coverage of qualified nursing home and visiting nurse care in addition to coverage of services provided in hospitals. Enrollment will be open to all residents of Northeastern Pennsylvania age 65 or older who are self-employed, retired or working for a firm with less than five employees. There is no physical examination required.

Much Preparation
"These new senior citizen benefit programs are the results of many months of preparation and study by Blue Cross Plans throughout the country," states Mr. Bell. "Although Blue Cross Plans already provide coverage for more than five million of the country's aged, it has been done by each plan individually. These new programs are the first to be offered to the aged by Blue Cross on a national level."

The aged will also have the opportunity, at this time, to obtain broader Blue Shield Senior Citizen benefits to help pay doctor bills. A new Blue Shield program of extended benefits for Senior Citizens has also recently been approved by the Insurance Commissioner and will be offered in conjunction with these new Blue Cross programs.

Enrollment will also be open during this November 12 through November 30 campaign in all Blue Cross and Blue Shield group and non-group benefit programs. A departure from previous regulations, which allowed persons to join the years round, the new regulations provide that enrollment in Blue Cross and Blue Shield will only be open during this special enrollment campaign. It is not known when another enrollment campaign will be held.

Enrollment Opened
During this campaign, persons under age 65 who are self-employed, retired, unemployed or working for a firm with less than five employees may join under 65 non-group programs. Non-member employees of firms enrolled as Blue Cross and Blue Shield groups may enroll during this period. Also, group members who wish to make any changes in their coverage must do so at this time.

Commenting on these new regulations, Mr. Bell states, "We are making this change in enrollment regulations to strengthen our underwriting of both group and non-group members. In making this change, we haven't forgotten our obligation to the community. Everyone eligible for membership has the chance to join during this campaign. But they must do so at this time. We do not know when we will be able to offer another enrollment opportunity."

Reviewing the new Blue Cross Senior Citizen Programs, Mr. Bell disclosed that Extended Senior Citizen is the broader benefit program. It provides 70 days of hospital care a year, full coverage of daily charges for regular semi-private hospital accommodations and full coverage of practically all hospital services required during the benefit period. Also included is coverage in qualified nursing homes, visiting nurse care and full coverage of minor surgery and emergency care in a hospital out-patient department. After six months of membership, coverage is extended to all conditions that existed prior to membership. To receive the in-patient hospital benefits, the subscriber pays a co-operative fee of $5 a day for 15 days, to the hospital, for all persons listed on the agreement. Monthly rates for this program are $9.60 for an individual and $19.20 for husband and wife or family.

Coverage Listed
The Regular Senior Citizen Program provides 30 days of hospital care a year, full coverage of daily charges for regular semi-private hospital accommodations and most hospital services required during the benefit period. It also includes coverage of visiting nurse service and limited coverage of minor surgery and emergency care in a hospital's out-patient department. It does not provide nursing home care. Monthly rates for this program are $5.35 for the individual and $10.70 for husband and wife or family.

"We have been providing coverage for the aged for the past 17 years," he adds, "with this background and knowledge we feel that with these two new programs, we are offering the broadest benefits possible at rates within the budgets of most aged citizens. We realize, that because of fixed income, many will not be able to enroll in the Extended Program. This is why we are offering the Regular Program — a lesser benefit program at considerably lower rates."

Stroud Union Student Listed In National Scholarship Test

ONE senior at Stroud Union High School has been honored for her high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school receives a formal Letter of Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Alfred W. Munson, the school's principal, has announced that the Commended student is Judith M. Foulkes.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, stated: "About 28,700 students throughout the country are being awarded Letters of Commendation in recognition of their excellent performance on the qualifying test. Although they did not reach the status of Semifinalists in the current Merit Program, they are so capable that we wish to call attention in this way to their achievement and academic promise."

"The Semifinalists and Commended students together constitute about 2 per cent of all high school seniors. This certainly signifies noteworthy accomplishment by all of these bright youngsters."

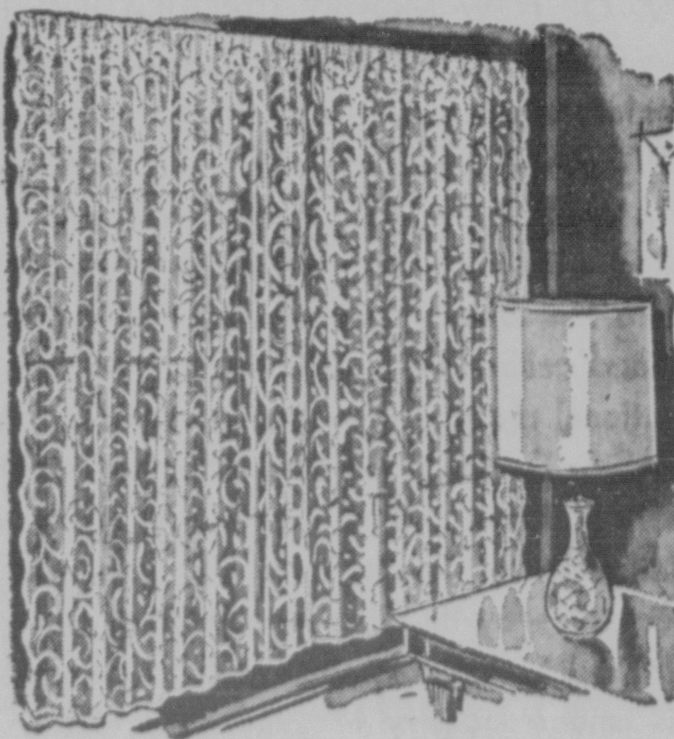

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation gives recognition to two groups of students who achieve high scores on the NMQST. The Semifinalist group is composed of the highest-scoring students in each state and in U. S. territories. ESSC Entertainment Council To Present British TV Star

THE Entertainment Council at the local college will present Jacqueline Mackenzie, British TV Comedienne, at its convocation Wednesday, November 14 at 1 p.m. in the college auditorium. The public is invited to be guests of the Council at this time.

Miss Mackenzie was born in London of Scottish parents. She spent her childhood in India where her doctor-father was stationed. Her early education was obtained at girls' preparatory schools at Wycombe Abbey near London and St. Leonard's in Scotland. Further education found her in the field of journalism but her eye was always cast in the direction of the stage.

After her preliminary training, the speaker joined a repertory company which toured Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Aberdeen and rapidly advanced in leading roles. Moving to London to carry on her professional career, she played roles in many films and appeared frequently on the stage. One of her outstanding successes during these years was her performance in George Bernard Shaw's "Fanny's First Play."

After many successes on leading B.B.C. radio and television programs, Miss Mackenzie inaugurated her own television series called "Highlight." This series embraced Paris dress showings, Royal Ascot Races, the London debutante season, and other social events. Later she inaugurated a second program called "Hotfoot," in which she related the newsworthy stories collected in the United States.

In America, the comedienne has appeared as guest artist on the Ed Sullivan Show, "Tonight," and "Nightbeat."

Jacqueline Mackenzie's future plans call for her entrance into British politics at which time she will become a liberal candidate for Parliament. Her husband, Peter Forster, is a well-known British author and broadcaster.

Fire Damages Berwick Plant

BERWICK, Pa. (AP)—Damage estimated by management at about $100,000 was caused by a fire which Friday laid waste to the storage department of the Berwick Fabricating Company plant.

Two firemen suffered what were reported as minor injuries. The company manufactures milk cartons. Large supplies of the cartons were stored in the area where the flames raged.

Since the fire was confined to the storage section, the machinery was undamaged, and the company said the plant proper will be back in operation Friday.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Thais Troubles Floated Away

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The people of Thailand floated their troubles away Sunday night in an ancient ritual performed annually.

Called "loy krathong"—literally to float a boat—the ritual involves sending tiny candle-bearing ships down any body of water that has a current.

According to popular belief here rooted in a mixture of Hindu and Buddhist worship, the boats carry their owners' troubles with them as they float downstream.

Youth Is Given Death Sentence

MOSCOW (AP)—One youth has been sentenced to death in Leningrad and two others to 10 and 1 years imprisonment for a payroll robbery that didn't come off. A girl who helped them got three years.

The newspaper Trud reported Sunday that Heli Hakovlev was sentenced to death for shaping the plan.

Trud said all four had jobs, but drunk so much they needed more money. The cashier who was to be robbed didn't learn of the plot until after the arrests, made by police after a telephoned tip.

Miss Sharon Keiper Wed To Lee R. Honey

Miss Sharon M. Keiper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keiper, of Saylorsburg, became the bride of Lee R. Honey, Thursday, Nov. 1 at the Mikels Motor Farm. Rev. Truman Kostenbader, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Nazareth, performed the ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Honey, Mount Bethel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza. The lace bodice featured a scoop neckline of lace over a silk organza insertion with a jewel neckline. Long sleeves came to points at the wrist. Highlighting the bouffant skirt was a peplum of lace. Both bodice and peplum were studded with rhinestones.

A seed pearl crown held her fingertip veil of imported French silk illusion. She carried white Fugi mums and pom-poms with greens.

Mrs. Maxine Bond, Stroudsburg, RD 5, was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was of the fashion of the bride's with green under the lace bodice. She carried a green bouquet.

Cherie Randall, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her white lace gown flowed over red underneath and she carried red flowers. The gowns were designed and made by the bride's mother, Mrs. Earl Keiper.

Donald Parker was ring bearer. Ralph DeLong of Wind Gap acted as best man.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Keiper chose a dress of black chiffon over magnetic blue with gold accessories.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a black and white ensemble with white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held for 75 guests at Mikels Motor Farm.

The bride is a graduate of Stroud Union High School and is employed at Valerie Blouse Co., Wind Gap. Her husband is a graduate of Pen Argyl High School and is stationed on the USS Saratoga with the United States Navy.

SHOPPER

Jane Thomas entertained at a surprise stork shower for Edith Jacobson last Thursday evening, and when the Jacobson baby arrives it will certainly have more than love to keep it warm! I never saw so many crib blankets for a baby in my life, and all of them so dainty, fluffy, and pretty one was tempted to snuggle beneath them and hibernate indefinitely.

Several of them were the thermo blankets, that are so light and airy one would wonder how they could possibly lock out cold and lock in heat... but they do. They look almost like hand knitted blankets and are edged with wide, satiny bands of wash-happy miracle fabric. These blankets are very reasonably priced... just 4.00... and are wondrously handy. They may be used to wrap baby for carrying... they are excellent carriage robes... and they double as a crib spread when not in use as a blanket. Here at Wyckoff's we stock them in white, pink and blue.

I might also add that we have very much the same type of robe for full-size adult beds, in our Domestic department, but Marion Drake tells me they're not nearly so soft as those she sells for infants. They are very lovely, however, and when one realizes that some of the city hospitals use them on their beds year 'round, one realizes how very durable they must be. Whether you are buying for crib or double bed, ask about these... I love their appearance, and you will too!

Some of the merchandise which was slated to appear in our Housewares department during the recent October sale has just been received, but it's so attractive and gifty, as well as so reasonably priced, I must tell you about it. One item is a majolica-type cake plate of white leaves in an overlay design, with a painted strawberry motif in the center. This motif is repeated on the server. Very good looking, if you ask me, for only 1.99. The second item is a handpainted relish dish, which (judging from the number we import each year) must be the most familiar dish on an Italian table. We have three styles — round, square, and elliptical, all handpainted in joyous slap-dash fashion. Each is 2.79.

And while we're mentioning housewares, we might also mention the attractive dinner table Mary has set up, using china in the Teresa pattern from Poland. This is creamy in color, banded in small, bright flowers and edged with gold. The platters are roomy, gracefully contoured, and are not too heavy. Weight is something I always consider in serving dishes as well as in luggage. But the loveliest feature of this 57-piece dinner service for 8, is the adorable coffee pot, sugar and creamer. Regularly priced at 34.95, the present price is 27.50, permitting you to "save, as you set a pretty holiday table."

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—If you feel up to the task, have a number of matters to tend, get as much as you can do, but do not overdo. Administering affairs with finesse will reward.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Finds today are important. Mercury, highly sponsored among many in business, community welfare work, long range projects. It may be a crowded day but you can handle it.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Review situations, rule out chimeric performance. Use words to help movements. Develop a new skill; at least, improve an old one.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Fine solar influences. First degree effort. Mismatches could be a big fault now. Confidential work, military tactics, home work especially favored.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—You like to do things, have two-grade a series now. What you will do with the material at hand, including your own talents, counts. Inconveniences must not worry; they can be atoned for with skill.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Fine planetary aspects encourage your mastery of self and able handling of skills and general affairs. Business may have some delays, but keep plugging with consistency, diligence.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—The look of things, other's viewpoints, existing rules and the temper of the people with whom you must deal all should determine your method and speed of movement. Do your work well, then relax.
November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Jupiter's good admonishes against taking hasty steps in any direction. Seek counsel from proper sources; conduct your affairs with noise, sagacity. Patient consistency can overcome big odds.
December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Gains possible through dealing with farmers, land owners. Elderly people benefited, also organizing, construction work, art.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Don't be hasty that you overlook vital details. Be sensible about contracts, anything you promise. Your devotion to work purposes will pay dividends.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Outstandingly needed this mixed day: adequate preparations, readiness at right times, diplomacy, and you being your natural, amiable self.
You! BORN TODAY can wield a mighty sword or word, and be as much an artist as required. You can delight in nature, enjoy athletics, contests, travel, go-to-geth with clever, interesting people. You show brightness, would rather walk alone than listen to gossip or detraction. Never a word that can, however, be disappointed at lack of appreciation and at times are sure of your standing. Overcome this. Your loyalty is strong.

Health is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to appeal to your fortune. Count the letters in your first name if the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is 3, 4 or 5, subtract 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Yanks Take Canada Cup

SAN ISIDRO, Argentina (AP)—Arnold Palmer and a faltering Sam Snead gave the United States its third Canada Cup golf victory Sunday but Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo rallied and won the individual championship.

Snead, leader through the first three rounds, skied to a 74 after shooting four bogies and one double bogie over the baked Jockey Club course. Palmer, holder of the U.S. Masters and British Open crowns, protected the American team's lead with a one-under-par 69.

The combined efforts gave the U.S. pair an over-all score of 557 for the four-round, 72-hole competition.

Packers, Giants Winners

The Green Bay Packers, led by fullback Jim Taylor's four touchdowns and a vice-like defense, rolled to their ninth National Football League victory without a loss Sunday, throttling the Philadelphia Eagles 49-0. The New York Giants took a solid grip on first place in the NFL's eastern conference with a 41-10 walloping of the Dallas Cowboys.

Both victories moved the clubs closer to a second straight title meeting, with the Packers still two full games ahead of the Detroit Lions in the western conference and the Giants a full-game up on Washington in the east.

Washington Wins

Washington (5-2-2) all but killed the Cleveland Browns' hopes of tightening the eastern race with a 17-9 victory, while Detroit (7-2) kept its flickering western division hopes alive by beating San Francisco 38-24. Dallas and the Browns are well back of the Giants (7-2) with 4-4 records. Pittsburgh (5-4) stayed in the eastern battle with a 26-17 win over St. Louis.

The Dallas Texans took over the first place in the western division of the American Football League with a 52-31 victory over the New York Titans while eastern division-leading Boston defeated Denver 33-29. Boston's victory dropped the Broncos (7-3) a half game behind Dallas (7-2).

The rest of the National Football League action saw the Chicago Bears edge Minnesota 31-30 on Roger Leclerc's field goal in the final 13 seconds and the Baltimore Colts spoiled Harland Svare's debut as the Los Angeles Rams' head coach with a 14-2 win.

Southern Cal New National Champion?

The Far West hasn't produced a national college football champion in 23 years, but it finally has come up with a team that may make the grade—unbeaten and untied Southern California.

The Trojans, reviving memories of Howard Jones' awesome touchdown machines of the 1920s and 1930s, won their seventh straight game Saturday, crushing Stanford 39-14, and virtually wrapped up a bid to the Rose Bowl.

At the same time, they entered a strong bid for the No. 1 ranking since the only team to head them in The Associated Press poll, previously unbeaten Northwestern, took a 37-6 clobbering at the hands of Wisconsin.

Race In Tizzy

Wisconsin's one-sided triumph threw the Big Ten title race, which determines the conference Rose Bowl representative, into a tizzy. Four teams — Wisconsin, Northwestern, Purdue and Minnesota—are still in the running for the championship and all except Minnesota, which played last year, in line for the Pasadena trip.

Meanwhile little light was thrown on the other big bowls. The powerhouses of the bowl-minded Southeastern and Southwest Conferences—Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas, Auburn and Louisiana State—all won their games and kept hopes alive.

Penn State, probably the best team in the East, improved its bowl position by routing West Virginia 34-6. Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma all continued as definite post-season possibilities as did Duke, in the Atlantic Coast, and Oregon, out West.

Lose Lustre

A few teams lost bowl lustre. These included Army, upset by Oklahoma State 12-7; Miami of Florida, trounced by late-starting Alabama 35-3, and Georgia Tech, surprisingly tied by Florida State 14-14. Navy lost again, bowing to a revived Syracuse team 34-6.

This is how the big bowls stack up at the moment:

Rose Bowl—Southern California (7-0) vs. Wisconsin (6-1). Northwestern (6-1) and Purdue (4-2-1) have an outside chance.

Sugar Bowl — Mississippi (7-0) vs. Arkansas (7-1).

Cotton Bowl—Texas (7-0-1) vs. Alabama (8-0).
Orange Bowl—Missouri (7-0-1) Penn State (7-1-0). Nebraska (7-1) and Oklahoma (5-2) have a look-in.

Gator Bowl — Louisiana State (6-1-1) vs. Auburn (6-1).

A Reversal?

The setup in the Sugar and Cotton Bowls could be reversed. The Sugar Bowl usually gets the Southeastern Conference champion, which could be either Mississippi or Alabama, or both, while the Cotton Bowl has the Southwest titleholder as host. Texas looks like the best bet.

Southern California, spurred on by students yelling, "We're number one, we're number one," gave an impressive demonstration of offensive power in smothering Stanford. Southern Cal was the Pacific Coast's last No. 1 team—in 1939.

To clinch a Rose Bowl bid, the Trojans must beat UCLA Nov. 24—a game sandwiched between battles with Navy and Notre Dame. UCLA lost to the Air Force Saturday 17-11. Notre Dame, which has found new vigor in Darryl Lamoni's passing arm, beat Pitt 43-22.

Badger Stars

Ron VanderKelen and Gary Kroner were stars in Wisconsin's victory over Northwestern at Madison which knocked the last perfect record in the Big Ten. In other games, Purdue beat Michigan State 17-9, Minnesota won over Iowa 10-0, Ohio State edged Indiana 10-7 on a late field goal and Michigan topped Illinois 14-10.

Wisconsin, Northwestern and Minnesota are 4-1 in the league and Purdue is 3-1. Wisconsin, beaten only by Ohio State, must play Illinois and Minnesota. Northwestern meets Michigan State this week and Minnesota faces Purdue before taking on Wisconsin Nov. 24 in the game that may decide the championship.

Missouri, with only a scoreless tie against Minnesota to mar its record, moved nearer the Orange Bowl by smothering Colorado 57-0. But the Tigers must play resurgent Oklahoma this week and close with Kansas before it can lay claim to the Big Eight title. Oklahoma trampled Iowa State 41-0 while Nebraska, beaten only by Missouri, trampled Kansas 40-16.

'Bama Explodes

Alabama, unbeaten since mid-1960, trailed for two periods and then exploded for a 36-3 triumph over Miami, Fla., and its formi-

Duke kept its bowl ambitions burning with a 10-7 decision over Maryland. North Carolina beat Virginia 11-7. South Carolina topped North Carolina State 17-6. Tennessee won over Tulane 28-16, and Florida trounced Georgia 23-15.

In the Southwest, Tommy Wade figured in three touchdowns in Texas' 27-12 victory over Baylor. Arkansas, beaten only by Texas, thumped Rice 28-14 and Texas

The East was riddled with upsets but Dartmouth, the unbeaten leader of the Ivy League, continued rolling along with a 42-0 sweep past Columbia. Pennsylvania surprised Yale 15-12 and Harvard shut out favored Princeton 20-0 to make Dartmouth's march to the title easier.

Pacific Coast headlines saw Washington, beaten by Southern Cal a week ago, smash back for a 27-0 triumph over California;

Oregon beat Washington State 28-10, and Oregon State smothered Idaho 32-0. Utah State whipped Wyoming 20-6.

Bangor Falls To New N-L Champion

By Armon Williams
Daily Record Correspondent

BANGOR — Hellertown High fulfilled predictions by winning the Lehigh-Northampton League championship with a 20-6 conquest of Bangor High on a muddy Bangor gridiron Saturday afternoon.

What wasn't foreseen in the crystal ball, however, was the unexpected resistance they ran into in closing an undefeated nine-game season against an opponent far back in the pack. Despite pressing with top stringers throughout, the Panthers failed to score during the second half.

Their roll-up operation, in fact, backfired in the last 30 seconds when Dick Pozzuto picked of Dennis Vassa's pass and raced it back 66 yards for the Maroon touchdown. Hellertown was on Bangor's 39, second and eight, when the point-happy strategy boomeranged. Sherry Heard's placement fell short.

Resorts To Air

Despite the banging away of Mike Zito, whose output of 95 for the campaign received only a minor lift in this finale, Hellertown was forced to resort to the air in annexing the first two scores. Recovery of a fumble deep in Bangor territory pushed the door ajar for the other.

The Panthers' initial sortie fumbled on the 11 via Frank Holand's retrieve of Dave Eisenhart's bobble after a 41-yard advance but Jim Dietz's punt out couldn't reclaim all of the ground forfeited. An eight-yard return by Zito and other plunging by Zito moved Hellertown from the 35 to the 14.

Then momentum died, with two thrusts surrendering a pace, prompting a pitch by Vassa that caught Mike Duddy on the three, yards away from any adversary. He loosed over and Zito booted for the conversion.

Daddy Scores

This was repeated on a grander scale moments later. Bangor bogged down with the kickoff and Dietz kicked across to the 44. Eisenhart opened the second quarter with an eight-yard pick-up and Alex Polovich capped this by firing to Duddy again alone on the 31 for a 48-yard scoring play. Zito again placed successfully.

Although the Slaters still have easy pickings for their foes were about at an end, however. An attempt to exploit an interception by Bob Fairall that left the ball on Bangor's 21 was brought to a halt on the 12 and a renewed bid following the punt collapsed on the 24.

For the Slaters, unfortunately, the next play produced a miscue, grabbed by Charles Mulicka on the 22, and Bangor yielded to this third threat. Five ground plays culminated with Eisenhart covering the last seven off tackle. Zito's boot was inaccurate.

Gain Confidence

In carrying its grinding game into the third period, Hellertown twice lost the initiative on fumbles, first on the 31 and later on the four. Bangor appeared to be gaining confidence meanwhile and early in the fourth, after holding the Zito-placed Panthers on the 26, flashed an attack of its own.

Bill Yeager gained 21 off end and Dietz passed to Carm Comanale for 22, crossing to the 31 before Hellertown finally branched on the 27. Seconds later Bill Schankel intercepted a Polovich flip in midfield but Hellertown again held on downs on the 37 and then followed with the closing bid that was upset by Pozzuto's steal.

Between halves Carol Strauss, the Maroon's head cheerleader, was crowned Homecoming Queen by Dr. Nicholas Cascario, president of the joint school committee. Alan Miller, director of the school band, MC'd the ceremonies.

FAMOUS QUOTATIONS ON YOUTH

Fame is the thirst of youth.
Canto III—Lord Byron

For as I like a young man in whom there is something of the old, so I like an old man in whom there is something of the young; and he who follows this maxim in body will possibly be an old man, but he will never be an old man in mind.

De Senectute—Cicero

Only a moment; a moment of strength, of romance, of glamour—of youth . . . A flick of sunshine upon a strange shore, the time to remember, the time for a sigh, and good-bye-night-goodbye.

Youth—Joseph Conrad

And youth is cruel, and has no remorse
And smiles at situations which it cannot see.
I smile, of course,
And go on drinking tea.

"Yet with these April sunsets, that somehow recall
My buried life, and Paris in the Spring,
I feel immeasurably at peace, and find the world
To be wonderful and youthful, after all.

Portrait of a lady—T. S. Eliot

I never dared to be radical when young—for fear it would make me conservative when old.

Precaution—Robert Frost

When the grasp on the bow was decision,
And arrow, and hand and eye were one;
When the pleasures like waves to a swimmer,
Came heaving for rapture ahead!

Ode to Youth in memory—George Meredith

He who is of a calm and happy nature will hardly feel the pressure of age, but to him who is of an opposite disposition, youth and age are equally a burden. The Republic—Plato

The young man who has not wept is a savage, and the old man who will not laugh is a fool.

Dialogues in Limbo—Santayana

I never knew so young a body with so old a head.
The Merchant of Venice—Shakespeare

All modern American literature comes from one book by Mark Twain called Huckleberry Finn . . . there was nothing before. There has been nothing as good since.

The Green Hills of Africa—Ernest Hemingway

The youth gets together his materials to build a bridge to the moon, or perchance a palace or temple on Earth, and at length, the middle-aged man concludes to build a wood-shed with them.

Journal—Henry David Thoreau

When we are young we long to tread a way none trod before.
The Land of Heart's desire—Yeats

Asks For Grand Jury Investigation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new, official grand jury probe of alleged corruption in Philadelphia's City Hall will be sought next week Dist. Atty. James C. Crumlish Jr., said Friday.

The D. A., who opposed such an investigation in 1961, and again this year, said he was "motivated purely by my own concern to re-establish the confidence of the people in the judicial and quasi-judicial machinery to discharge its responsibility."

Crumlish is a Democrat. Probes previously were sought by Republicans here.

The probe was a factor in Tuesday's gubernatorial election, with Republican William W. Scranton, who was elected, making it one of the key issues in his successful campaign.

Youth In Coma Is Back Home

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Little Jimmy Jescavage is home from the hospital, but his condition remains poor.

Jimmy, who is now six years old, has been in a coma since Sept. 18 when he was stricken with encephalitis (sleeping sickness). He was rushed to Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, and remained there until Oct. 28 when he was returned to his home in Kingston.

Illness and pain are nothing new to the youngster.

On April 12, 1961, Jimmy was taken to Geisinger Medical Center for surgery to remove a brain tumor. He was a patient two months before the first operation could be performed. Three other operations were required before returning in July, 1961, to his former home in Forty Fort. Since that time he had been holding his own against the prior affliction.

The boy's father, Thaddeus L. Jescavage, reported doctors at the medical center labored long and hard to save his son's life. It was believed this had been accomplished until he was stricken with encephalitis.

Jimmy is once again battling for his life.

Jimmy's father is employed at the Kingston branch of the Post Office Department. His mother is the former Helen Bennett of Forty Fort. Jimmy also has three sisters.

Industrial advertising is estimated at $1 billion years.

Lawrence Names Liaison Officer

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence named his secretary of administration, David H. Kurtzman, Friday to serve as liaison officer with the incoming administration of gov.-elect Scranton.

At the same time, he praised his cabinet for their work in his own administration.

He told his first post-election cabinet meeting:

"This cabinet has been, without doubt, the most outstanding group of men and women to surround any governor in the history of Pennsylvania."

"You have performed brilliantly. You have been willing to step out and act upon your abilities and beliefs, and Pennsylvania is better for it."

Lutheran Agency Studies Aid To Cuban Refugees

POSSIBLE Lutheran Immigration Service participation in the program to aid Cuban refugees in Florida will be discussed at a special consultation in Miami, it was announced here.

Donald E. Anderson, LIS director, said he has invited several Miami area Lutheran pastors and missions and welfare executives to serve on a committee to advise the joint National Lutheran Council and Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod agency.

He noted that LIS last June voted to receive requests for local social welfare and relief assistance for Cuban refugees and has had possible programs under consideration.

"It is too early to determine the effect of recent developments upon the Cuban refugee problem in Miami as a whole," Mr. Anderson said. "However, if the resettlement program slows down and the Cubans decide to stay in the Miami area, it will, in all probability, increase the need for additional social service and relief programs."

He said any LIS program in Miami would be coordinated with the total Protestant effort.

The LIS director said Dr. Oliver G. Grotefend, a clergyman of the American Lutheran Church who is executive director of the Protestant Latin American Emergency Committee of the National Council of Churches, will serve as a consultant to the committee.
